Program Description:

This one-day program will provide valuable information for individuals who are responsible for creating Joint Commission updates, FGI Guidelines, updates, Construction Safety, ASHE Updates, ASHE Energy to Care Updates, Chapter Updates, and Life Safety programs, in addition to understanding the Joint Commission survey's methodology and changes to the standards. Information will be provided so attendees will be able to implement a practical and compliant program for healthcare facilities. This information will enable maximum performance, while effectively preparing for unscheduled new Joint Commission and CMS surveys. Attendees will also receive specific guidance on how to understand and interpret the most serious deficiencies that are common in surveys. Practical examples will include an explanation of "best practices" that will help you move your own program to the top and guarantee success. Handout materials will include scoring sheets and survey checklists as well as forms, worksheets and sample policies that can be easily adapted to your own program. Sufficient time will also be provided during each section for questions and discussion.

Learning Objectives:

As a result of participating in this program, the attendees will be able to understand the following:

1. How the Joint Commission team will evaluate and score the surveys?
2. Changes to the standards that may affect your survey outcome the new scoring requirements for the Joint Commission surveys.
3. The specific responsibilities of each of the survey team members, including the expanded role of the Interpretation of the Life Safety Surveyor, based on new checklists and survey agendas developed by the Joint Commission field manager.
4. How to achieve "Continuous Compliance" and overcome the most common deficiencies cited in the Environment of Care, Emergency Management and Life Safety areas.
5. How to successfully prepare for the "five vulnerabilities": The Survey Planning Session, Life Safety Surveyor Documentation Review, Facility Tour, the Physical Environment Interview and likely Physical Environment Tracers.
6. How to incorporate "best practices" to enhance your existing programs.
7. How to use proven ideas and techniques to achieve survey success.
